5.5 Going over the code, I thought that it would create a tree with left and right branches where each of those branches would have left and right branches that correspond to the value of n. After running the code I see that I was correct, although it did look exactly as I would expect